

Reading Summary: Week 5: Graham & Barreto:
Loss of the HIF pathway in a widely distributed intertidal crustacean, the copepod Tigriopus californicus

Fish need air too and people are making there be less air for the fish. Most fish die if they don't have enough air but one ocean bug can live without much air. Maybe we can figure out how he does it and we can show the other fish.

