

Shrimp need air to breathe. And less air is in water so they need to get it another way. They can get air into skin when they can't breathe.